

Thesis/Dissertation BOOT CAMP

January 7 - 11 , 2019 • 10AM - 5PM • COMM 580: Thesis Boot Camp • Skeen Library 212

---

What is Boot Camp?

Thesis & Dissertation Boot Camp is an opportunity to get a head start on your thesis or dissertation. The focus of Boot Camp is to provide a distraction-free space in which grad students can spend 5 to 6 hours per day writing their theses. It's a combination of a quality work space, readily available writing advice, and peer resources. It's also a great place for both native and non-native speakers of English to get feedback on their writing!

IMPORTANT: Boot Camp is a 1-credit class for which you must register on Banweb! You will find the course listing for the Winter Break 2019 Boot Camp (Jan 7-11) under the Spring 2019 course listings. Below is a list of steps to follow when registering for Boot Camp. If you have any questions about this process, please contact Dr. Jesse Priest (jesse.priest@nmt.edu) or visit him near the Writing & Communication Lab (016 Fitch).

How do I register for Boot Camp?

1. Talk to your advisor about whether you are ready to start writing your thesis.
2. Email Dr. Priest (jesse.priest@nmt.edu) with questions about Boot Camp.
3. Complete the Instructor Permission Form (attached) during the Fall semester.
4. Bring the Instructor Permission form to Dr. Priest (016 Fitch) for a signature and then submit to the registrar's office (beginning November 26).
5. Register for COMM 580: Boot Camp on Banweb.
6. Complete the Boot Camp Writing Plan (attached) and submit to Dr. Priest (in person or by email) no later than Monday, December 10.
