Hello Students,

As part of New Mexico Tech’s ongoing efforts to increase campus awareness and resources for gender equality and sexual violence prevention, we are pleased to introduce a new educational video addressing sexual harassment, stalking and sexual assault.

All new students will watch this video during fall orientation. Returning students are also required to watch the video. The purpose of this presentation is to raise awareness about negative behaviors, prevent such behavior and give students information on dealing with these situations.

If you were not able to watch the video presentation at the beginning of the semester, or if you would like to review it again, please follow this link to watch it online as soon as possible: http://www.nmt.edu/affirmative-action-title-ix

New Mexico Tech is committed to providing an environment free of discrimination on the basis of gender, including sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, sexual assault, dating & domestic violence, and stalking. The University provides resources and reporting options to students, faculty and staff to address concerns related to sexual harassment and sexual violence prohibited by Title IX and University policies.

If you or someone you know has been affected by sexual violence or harassment, please consider telling someone what happened. Our campus has several resources and dedicated people who want to help you.
