Ms. Sherman said that other universities are preparing to switch to online courses, and CNM is advertising online instruction. Ms. Sherman recommended that NMT contract with local hotels to house students in a manner that satisfies social-distancing restrictions. Regent King commented that she participated in a virtual career fair that included STEM jobs in New Mexico. Both Regent Armijo and Regent King thanked Ms. Sherman for her great ideas.
   b. GSA President, Henry Prager. Mr. Prager reported on the GSA online elections, which resulted in Mr. Prager returning as President. Mr. Prager reported that the GSA selected Jose Martinez-Claros and Mikell Coleman for the GSA's annual appreciation awards.

AVP Phaiah reported that the capacity of the residence halls will be reduced from 760 to 504 beds. Also, due to distancing protocols, half of the available beds will be reserved for incoming freshmen. He has opened discussions with local hotels for students if needed. The campus energy audit, which is being conducted by Ameresco, is moving forward as planned.

In response to a question from Regent Armijo, VP Romero reported that the First Responder Training Program has been completely shut down... except for pre-recorded online classes. VP Romero and EMRTC administrators are considering moving some training courses to Playas. g. Office of Innovation Commercialization (OIC), Director Dr. Peter Anselmo. Dr. Anselmo reported that the 2020 Inventors and Entrepreneurs Workshop was cancelled, but the Wolves Den proceeded with a successful virtual online event.
