49er’s Celebration!
Updates from RA Jaden

NMT Community! The annual Techie tradition of 49er’s is happening during this less than traditional year. In the past, 49er’s has been a very in-person event, but the organizers are finding great ways to translate it into ways that are safe for the current times. Here’s a few highlights of what’s available this week:

• On Thursday and Friday (10/15 & 10/16) The eSports club is holding a live gaming tournament for Overwatch, League of Legends, Valorant, and Rocket League. Test your mettle and RSVP at this link: https://forms.gle/YtvQ1wXXxQkY6GApx6
• On Thursday night (10/15) we will have a live Comedy Night with comedian Adam Ruber on the athletic field (or through zoom!)

Adam has a Ph.D. in microbiology and his act is very focused on science and university humor.

GETTING OUTDOORS

PSA from RA Otto

New Mexico Tech is ideally situated. Wilderness enthusiasts often look for good places to practice outdoors sports and activities. These activities and sports include car camping, backpacking, hiking, rock climbing, mountain biking, and many more. The Magdalena mountains are about a 30 minute drive from tech and offer many opportunities to engage in said activities. Socorro is also home to one of the best rock climbing spots in New Mexico, Box Canyon. This climbing area is approximately 10 minutes from the campus and contains over 300 different rock climbing routes! Besides the many opportunities that our geographical location facilitates, Tech also offers classes to help prepare students for backpacking, climbing, and much more.

Taking these classes provides students with essential knowledge pertaining to environmental awareness and safety. The proximity of Tech to wilderness areas allows students to effortlessly engage in outdoors activities that help to refresh the mind and unwind from the chaotic lifestyle of a student.
